From the Hague Gazette, dated October 11.

Venice, September 22.

THIS Republic has Advices by the way of Otranto, which put them in Apprehension of a War with the Turks; and 'tis reported with some Assurance, that since the Deposing of the Grand Signior the Rebels have represented to the new Sultan that he ought to attempt to recover the Morea.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Oct. 15.

Letters from Italy of the 29th of last Month confirm, that the French Foot and Horse, which retir'd out of the Trentin by different Routes, arriv'd in the Mantuan, all but about 6000 Men under the Count de Medavi who remain to guard Riva, Nago, Torbole and Arco, waiting further Orders from the Court of France; and who to prevent being surpriz'd by the Imperialists that pass'd the Adige to observe them, have secur'd themselves by strong Intrenchments, that they may draw off their Garrisons safely when they shall be so order'd. The Imperialists finding it difficult to attack them, have thought it sufficient to place Guards in all the Passes of the Country, and have sent all the rest of the Militia to their homes. The Generals Vaubonne and Solari have taken the Route of St. Michel with above 3000 Horse and a Body of Infantry to rejoin the Army of General Staremberg at Ostiglia and Revere. On the 25th Ult. General Heister march'd back from Trent, with the Regiment of Bareith and other Troops to reduce the Fortrefs of Keuffstein,

From the Hague Gazette, dated October 11.

Warsaw, Sept. 17. The King continues at Wiasdow; but 'tis thought his Majesty will go to Cracow or Lemburg as soon as he shall hear Thorn is taken, which the Swedes are now bombarding, and have already burnt and destroy'd the Town-House, a Convent, and several Houses. There is less likelihood of Peace than ever, especially since we are fallen into new Broils on occasion of the King's disposing of the Offices of the Sapiehaes contrary to the Expectations of Oginski and his Followers. 'Tis fear'd likewise that the new Alliance between the Kings of Sweden and Prussia will retard it. A Council of War has been held, in which the Cardinal Primate was present, to consider of proper Means to reduce the Confederates of Great Poland; and the Army of the Crown, joyn'd by that of Lithuania, is since march'd towards that Province. The Swedes have taken the Town of Posen by Scalado, because the Inhabitants refus'd to pay 30000 Crowns demanded of them for Contributions.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated October 16.

Warsaw, Sept. 27. Several Councils have been held at Warsaw in presence of his Majesty, not only to advise how to satisfy General Oginski and others who exclaim against the late Disposition of the Offices of the Princes of the House of Sapieha; but likewise to take into consideration the Answer brought by Monsieur Zukowski from the King of Sweden, to the last Proposals made to his Swedish Majesty by the Cardinal Primate and the Commissioners of the Republick, Which Answer is in much the same Terms with his former, importing, 'That the King of Sweden cannot assure himself that the King of Poland will observe the Treaty propos'd, tho' he should bind himself by an Oath; and that his Polish Majesty has given fresh Proofs of his Resolution to keep the Sapiehaes out of their Offices, and seems not at all inclin'd to make Satisfaction to the Swedes for the Damage they have suffer'd both in Poland and Livonia. This indirect Answer convinces us, that his Swedish Majesty designs not to make known his real Intentions till he has possess'd himself of Thorn, and to spend the Winter with his Troops in this Kingdom. Monsieur Rein-schild one of his Generals, keeps with a Detachment in Great Poland, and there is no likelihood of his being disturb'd, seeing the Troops of Lithuania, instead of joyning the Army of the Crown in order to attack him together, as some have reported they would, is marching back hither. The News that came lately of the Treaty concluded between the Kings of Sweden and Prussia, gave this Court some Umbrage; but if the Articles of that Treaty are such as are generally reported, it can have no ill effect on the Affairs of this Country. They write from Riga of the 20th of this Month, that Advice was that day brought thither by the Post from Revel, that a strong Body of Muscovites appearing before Narva, the Garrison of that Place sallied out upon them and put them to the Rout, killing a great number of them and taking a considerable Booty: After which the Muscovites march'd and encamp'd within 16 Miles of Riga.

Dantzick, October 3. They write from the Camp before Thorn, that the King of Sweden has discontinued the Bombardment of that Place, and has since summon'd the Saxon Governour twice to Surrender; But the Governour, knowing his Swedish Majesty is determin'd to receive him and his Garrison on no other Terms than as Prisoners of War, answer'd both times, that he would rather stand upon his Defence to the last Extremity than accept such Conditions; At the same time he exhorted the Burghers as well as his Troops to stand by him in that commendable Resolution; and the more to encourage them to expose themselves, he went the Rounds on the Walls in Person with Drums beating and Trumpets sounding before him: He likewise took care every Night to repair the Breaches made in the Walls by the Artillery of the Swedes. The Swedes are preparing to renew the battering and bombarding of the Place with more Fury than before. Our Under-Syndick is gone to attend Count Piper and Count Steinboch in the Camp before Thorn; his business, 'tis said, is, to offer 50000 Crowns in part of the 100000 which this City has engag'd to pay the King of Sweden. 'Tis said his Swedish Majesty has declar'd to the Ministers of England and Holland, that he will not in any manner interrupt the Commerce of this City. The Swedes have made great Rejoycings in their Camp before Thorn, for the new Treaty made with the King of Prussia.

Hamburg,

Hamburg, October 16. Letters from Warsaw of the 2d instant tell us, that the King of Poland has issued Universalia against the Confederates of Great Poland, by which they are declar'd to be Rebels unless they immediately lay down their Arms; and their Deputies who were come to Warsaw with a Representation on the part of those who sent them, were refus'd Audience.

Dantzick, October 10. According to the Advices from the Camp before Thorn, the Deserters out of that Place report, that the Garrison is reduc'd to 1000 Men; And that the King of Sweden, being resolv'd to attack the Place with the utmost Vigour, has caus'd 5 Batteries to be got ready. 'Tis thought his Swedish Majesty intends to reside this Winter at Marienburg, that he may the better preserve a good Understanding with the Confederates of Great Poland.
